This is shorter than the last one. I also apologize for this coming so late in the month. My goal is get this out by the 2nd of the month. However, this is my self-determined deadline and it may not always. Thank you for understanding.

Website Update

My website listed in the header is online. There is still more information to be added and modifications made, but it is online and functional. I welcome suggestions you may have for improving the website.

Training

August 8-9 I attended "Assisting People in Crisis" ICISF training. This is the second time I have had this training. This time it was good because we addressed how it functioned at the WCSO.

Singles Ministry

After several discussions, I am going to lead/teach the new singles Sunday school class at Beaverton Christian Church. It will meet at 11 am in room c-205 and be called "Singles Alive." The study is titled "Life Lessons from Scripture." I am looking forward to working with the singles at BCC.

I am continuing as the Chaplain with Westside Singles Ministry. There are good things planned, check out that web site.

Other Thoughts

- Please pray for the singles ministries. Pray for me as I need wisdom.
- Pray for people who will support me financially.
- You can let others know about my website.
- I hope to have stuff under the "Grief" tag by the end of October.

Take care of yourself.
